

The FCC should resist attempts by the banking and other industries to weaken existing no-call list provisions. I don't want to hear from these people.